Hi,

Dido on this site, no contamination detected during UST closure, so no action required.

Thanks,

Bruce Reed

Hi,

How are you today? OK here. Just working on the "green folder" again, :). I just faxed a copy of the NFA for TC-774. Also, on RR-80, that was what we call a clean closure, or code 6, which means no contamination was found. In these cases, we do not issue a NFA letter, because no action was required. If we had ample time on our hands, we might write letters for the clean sites, but manpower issues have taken precedent over writing letters for clean sites. If the USMC is insistent about having a letter for these clean sites, please give Dave call or send him an email with this message attached.

Take care-

Bruce Reed
